

Candidate Statement

I am a former national security prosecutor, staffer to the FBI's 9/11 Review Commission, and two-time US Army combat veteran, proudly running for the office of Secretary of the DC Bar. Prior to my current role as General Counsel of SAP National Security Services, I was a global litigation partner at Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft LLP. On the personal side, I am married with 9 children, and my wife and I met in the Army. I am running for this office because I have a profound respect for the legal industry as a whole, and the DC Bar specifically, as an organization dedicated to supporting the practice of law and helping those most in need. I believe in public service, in doing something more than for personal gain, and I would work tirelessly if elected to further the mission of the DC Bar.
