America's Loneliest Workers

Lawyering is the most stressful job in America

But lawyers can be happy when:

We are autonomous

We are masters of our world

We are connected and have a sense of belonging

Demand for small firm services is and will be at an all time high

The challenge for the small firm lawyer is to:

Find the right problems

Get paid for solving them

You embrace change.

You are not easily distracted.

You are empathetic.

You know your strengths & weaknesses.

When we are licensed to solve the problems of others,
it is best that our focus be narrow.

There is less challenge and risk

What are professional corporations (PCs) & limited liability companies (PLLCs)?

The term “professional service” means any type of personal service to the public which may be lawfully rendered only pursuant to a license and which by law, custom, standards of professional conduct or practice in the District of Columbia, before December 10, 1971, could not be rendered by a corporation, including without limitation the services performed by certified public accountants, attorneys, architects, practitioners of the healing arts, dentists, optometrists, podiatrists, and professional engineers.

Professional Corporations must have “P.C.” or “Professional Corporation” or “Chartered” as a part of their name.

Professional LLCs must have “PLLC” or “Professional Limited Liability Company” as a part of their name.

What are acceptable purposes for professional corporations or LLCs?

A professional corporation may be organized solely to render professional services through its shareholders, directors, officers, employees, or agents who are themselves duly licensed to render the particular service and to render service ancillary thereto.

A professional corporation may employ persons, who are not licensed, but such persons shall not perform professional services; and no license shall be required of any person who is employed by a professional corporation to perform services for which no license is otherwise required.

Lawyers Working Remotely - 12/16/20

“The Committee’s opinion is that, in the absence of a local jurisdiction’s finding that the activity constitutes the unauthorized practice of law, a lawyer may practice the law authorized by the lawyer’s licensing jurisdiction for clients of that jurisdiction, while physically located in a jurisdiction where the lawyer is not licensed if the lawyer does not hold out the lawyer’s presence or availability to perform legal services in the local jurisdiction or actually provide legal services for matters subject to the local jurisdiction, unless otherwise authorized.”

Covington's Eric Holder Bills at $2,295 Hourly, New Legal Services Contract Shows

Covington and other firms have long been hired to conduct internal investigations at companies and other institutions, but in many instances the engagement letters, revealing rates and the scope of legal services, are not matters of public record.

Lawyer David Boies bills $1,950 per hour, court filing says

A court filing seeking legal fees in privacy litigation against Google indicates that one of the plaintiffs' lawyers—David Boies—is making $1,950 per hour.

The hourly rate is revealed in a June 3 motion seeking more than $1 million for legal fees and costs incurred by plaintiffs in pursuing a sanctions motion against Google, Reuters reports.

A judge had allowed the plaintiffs to seek fees and costs after concluding that Google committed discovery misconduct, partly by concealing key data and employees from the plaintiffs.

Boies, 81, is the chairman and a managing partner at Boies Schiller Flexner. His hourly rate is still below that of Neal K. Katyal, a partner at Hogan Lovells and a former U.S. acting solicitor general, who bills $2,465 per hour, according to a filing in a bankruptcy case.

Some lawyers at Covington & Burling also make more money, according to a Department of Justice court filing. It shows that senior partners there bill up to $2,500 per hour, Reuters reports in another story.

The privacy suit alleges that Google collected information from internet users when they use its incognito web browsing.

Other plaintiffs firms in the case are Susman Godfrey and Morgan & Morgan.

The case is Brown v. Google

Productive hour calculation

Monthly expenses X 12

$5k professional, $5k personal X 12 = $120,000.00

$120k / 50 weeks = $2400.00

$2400 / 5 days = $480.00

$480 / 3 productive hours each day = $160.00

(/ = divide)

Incorporating profit

$160.00 + $90 profit = $250.00 hourly rate

$250.00 X 3 productive hours a day = $750.00

$750.00 X 5 days = $3750.00

$3750.00 X 50 weeks = $187,500.00

$187,500 - $120,000 = $67,500.00 profit

Revenue – Expense = Profit

When the small firm does not intend to profit, it is simply surfing cash flow.

Here is how to know when you are profiting:

Total Fixed Cost / (Market Price – Cost) = Matters needed to break even $5000 Fixed Cost (month) / ($1000 - $750) = 20 matters a month to break even

Revenue – Expense = Profit

Compare to a firm with more margin in the formula

$$5000 \text{ Fixed Cost (month)} / ($2500 - $750) = 3$ matters a month to break even

How do you know the market?

A plan for getting paid

Rule 1.5(b) requires a writing covering the scope, fee & expenses

A contingent fee “agreement” is required as is a written statement of the outcome - Rule 1.5(c)

The best practice

Create a client-friendly contract that complies with Rule 1.5 and Rule 1.15 (when necessary)

Address other important issues like how you will communicate, what is expected of the client & what happens to the file

The e-Manual covers other terms

Request sample forms at PMAS@dcbar.org

Limited Scope Opportunity

Bar Complaint Form

It asks this question regardless of the nature of the complaint:

D. Do you have a written retainer agreement with the attorney? If yes, please attach a copy.

There is no exception in Rule 1.5 for a client who is pro bono, court appointed, friend or family

Small firm bank accounts

- The firm's business account (operating account)
- DC IOLTA, assuming there are IOLTA eligible funds
 - Trust Account for a single client or case, assuming the need exists

What goes where?

If you have done the work and earned the money, it goes into the business or operating account.

When it is an advance fee, when you are paid before you have done the work, when you have not yet earned the money, it goes into the IOLTA, assuming it is nominal in amount or going to be held for a short time.

Elements of good trust account management:

A ledger for each account;

Advance fees (flat, fixed or hourly) are entrusted (DC IOLTA);

Keep a client ledger for each client's money held in trust;

Include a summary of a client's trust funds in the invoice;

Use the three-way trust account reconciliation spreadsheet.

e-Manual, Chapter 5, Trust Accounting

Use the DC IOLTA Registration Form to open an IOLTA at an IOLTA compliant bank

Most advance fees are IOLTA eligible because they will not earn net interest for the client

Name your IOLTA properly (Rule 1.15\(b\)) Example:

Daniel M. Mills Lawyer DC IOLTA, or

The Mills Firm DC IOLTA

IOLTA Exceptions / Rule 1.15

“... when the lawyer is otherwise compliant with the contrary mandates of a tribunal ...”

If you are licensed, principally practice & are IOLTA compliant in another jurisdiction. Rule 1.15(b)

“... unless the client gives informed consent to a different arrangement.” Rule 1.15(e)

The problem with “informed consent to a different arrangement”

The Rules don't explain it

There is no case that sets out the elements

After In Re Mance, Disciplinary Counsel waited on the right set of facts to establish the elements. It happened in In Re Ponds

DC courts link for In Re Ponds

Waiver of entrustment is high risk conduct

What we now know about informed consent to waiver of entrustment

Orally & in writing the client agrees that:

1. Advance fees normally go into the IOLTA;
2. Un-entrusted fees are treated as the lawyer's property;
3. Lawyer must explain the service & do the work to earn the fee;
4. Unearned fee must be returned to the client;
5. Un-entrusted fees are subject to the lawyer's creditors;
6. If the client does not consent, the advance fee must go into IOLTA

Credit Card Payments

Be certain the payment goes into the right law firm account

LawPay is a DC Bar member benefit for credit card processing

Bank account record keeping

Maintain complete records for trust account purposes (Rule 1.15(a);

“Complete records” tell the full story of how the lawyer handled the money and whether the lawyer followed the Rules – In Re Clower, 831 A. 2d 1030, DCCA 2003

Include supporting data

The law firm bank statement

Should only be opened or accessible by you;

Should be examined regularly;

Never delegate this task regardless of how big, busy & successful you become;

Only delegate financial duties after your thorough review of the bank statement;

Reconcile the bank statement with your trust account ledger & client ledgers.

April 11 lawsuit.

The suit says some of the money was taken from Grimm's IOLTA account, which holds money in a trust for clients. Money was also taken from two other accounts at PNC Bank.

A once-prominent lawyer in Washington, D.C., has sued PNC Bank for allegedly ignoring "red flags and serious irregularities" that allowed an employee to embezzle money from him.

The former lawyer, Bernard Grimm, agreed to disbarment last year following an ethics investigation spurred by a bounced check. He claims that his employee embezzled $725,000 from accounts at PNC Bank, and that part of the money was stolen after he put the financial institution on notice of a fraudulent scheme in his accounts.

The decision is a loss for Pennsylvania law firm Perlberger Law Associates and lawyer Hanna Perlberger, who didn't know that the check that she received was forged before depositing it and wiring the funds to a purported client. Wells Fargo

Tech competence

DCRPC 1.1 and LEO 371 suggest that a lawyer be and remain tech competent.

A proposed amendment to D.C. Rule 1.1, Comment [5] is before the DCCA and says:

Thoroughness and Preparation

[5] Competent handling of a particular matter includes inquiry into and analysis of the factual and legal elements of the problem, and use of methods, procedures, and technology meeting the standards of competent practitioners. It also includes adequate preparation and continuing attention to the needs of the representation to assure that there is no neglect of such needs. The required attention and preparation are determined in part by what is at stake; major litigation and complex transactions ordinarily require more elaborate treatment than matters of lesser consequences.

Attorney for Software Businesses, Former SaaS Sales Leader.

It's officially been 18 months since I went full time running my law practice. Here are 6 things I have learned:

1. Being in a niche is good. Doing a group of specific things for a specific type of client REALLY well can be better than doing a bunch of things kind of well. I focus on transactional law for software companies.
2. Not all types of marketing/advertising works for everyone. For example, my clients aren't looking for my services on Facebook and Instagram. They're Googling, asking colleagues, or looking on LinkedIn.
3. Educating people is key - through content, webinars, or podcasts. Share knowledge to build trust.
4. Stand firm in your worth - prospective clients will come and try to negotiate down rates and claim they're getting a better deal elsewhere - but you are better served holding your ground. Those looking for deals aren't going to be great clients.
5. My best, most consistent clients have come to me organically - through word of mouth, or just finding my content in Google or LinkedIn.
6. Mental health is really important. I knew this before, but the stresses of being an entrepreneur are amplified in a pandemic. Meditate, seek therapy, and do what you can to maintain your inner peace.

The lessons keep on coming, and I keep on learning. Onward!

Defending executives and businesses in federal criminal investigations and business...

I'm going to let you in on a little secret. <whispers> It isn't very hard to start your own law firm. Here's all you need:

1. A computer
2. A domain name for email and website
3. A website (use a template to start)
4. Malpractice insurance
5. A corporate entity
6. An operating and IOLTA account
7. Basic software (Office365/G Suite; Adobe)
8. A telephone number

That's it.

I'm exaggerating a bit, of course, but the logistics of starting a law firm are easier than ever. Post-pandemic, you definitely do not need an office.

Of course, there is one very important thing you'll also need: confidence. A lot of it. You need to be confident that you can bring in clients. Maybe you have already had success as your prior firm. (I didn't.) Or maybe you are just sure that someone somewhere will hire you. (I was.)

If you need a pep talk to take the plunge, get in touch.

NON-NEGOTIABLE EXPECTATIONS

- 1) PH is an AmLaw 20 law firm. You're in the big leagues, which is a privilege, act like it.
- 2) We are in the business of client service – you are the concierge at the Four Seasons, a waiter at Alinea. The client always comes first and is always right. If a client wants a mountain moved, we move it. No questions.
 - As a junior, your "clients" are the associates and partners on the deal team.
- 3) You are "online" 24/7. No exceptions, no excuses.
- 4) Timelines/Quality: clients expect everything to be done perfectly and delivered yesterday.
- 5) Someone is paying $850+ for one hour of your time. Think about that in everything you do. All communication and work product needs to be prompt, professional and polished.
- 6) Take ownership of everything you do. Once you touch a document/work stream, you own every mistake in it – fair or not.
- 7) WFH is a luxury. Don't take advantage of it. Buy a full home setup (2 monitors, docking station, keyboard/mouse and a working phone) or come into the office. No poor connections. No excuses. See #3 and #5.
- 8) No questions until you've tried to figure something out for yourself (Google unfamiliar concepts, search the DMS, read statutes, read the instructions, etc.). Still can't figure out the answer? Talk to your classmates.
- 9) "I don't know" is never an acceptable answer. See #6 and #8.
- 10) This is YOUR career. Embrace that reality and always put your best foot forward, if not for the Firm or your deal team, for yourself. At the end of the day, it's your reputation that will carry you – whether that's here or in-house or elsewhere. Make it count.

Do any apply to your firm?
